INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS' HOSPITALITY SCHEME

For many years, the international office has run the International Students' Hospitality Scheme with the support of the University Community. The scheme matches new international students with host families from Edinburgh and the surrounding area to provide a space to help them to settle into University, learn more about Scotland and get a feel for Scottish family life.

This scheme can only run with the support of fellow staff members through out the university. The contribution doesn't have to be large, it could be as simple as meeting up with an international student for coffee twice or three times in the year.

If you would be willing to take part, please have a look at <http://www.international.ed.ac.uk/host/> for more information and to download the simple application form.

Options under consideration are going on retreat to a Benedictine Abbey, studying the Rule of St Benedict together or meeting weekly/monthly for lectio divina. This is for those who attended the recent days with Esther de Waal in our diocese and for anyone who would like to learn more about the Benedictine Way.
